National League Schedule Causes War in Ranks.

"TOO LONG," SAYS DREYFUSS School, and is going out for the team, and Ebbets, of Brooklyn, Holding Out for Original List of 168 Games, Herrmann, of Cincinnati, Is Opposed, and American League Officials Will File Protest.

New York, Jan. 7 .- Two members of the National League schedule committee, C. H. Ebbets and Barney Dreyfuss, are at odds over the new plan to play 168 games this year, instead of 154. Ebbets, who is the chairman of the committee has drawn up a tentative schedule, which he has submitted to Dreyfuss. In speak ing of the new arrangement, Ebbets said to-day:

"In this schedule the first natural double-header will fall on May 7, and practically the last one on August 1, excepting Labor Day, of course, also Columbus Day, when morning and after noon games will be played, as usual I find that 168 games can be easily scheduled. The double-headers have been reduced by taking advantage of closer jumps and by using days on which some of the teams have traveled in the past. Boston, St. Louis, and Chicago will have more double-headers than the other clubs, and they will doubtless play them on Sundays. This will be no interference with the world's series, which will begin on or about October 17. There will be ne trouble about the weather on that

"Ebbets may think such ? schedule is easy," says Dreyfuss, "but I can't see it. Sunday games in the West may help some, but I hate to think what may happen on the last Eastern trip if unfavorable weather causes postponements earlier in the season. I am opposed to J. Biebe the 168-game plan, and think the National League should go back to 154 games before it is too late. The public enough championship games al-

"Unnecessary," Says Herrmann.

Garry Herrmann, of the Cincinn club, is also opposed to the long schule, and declares that it is entirely u necessary. The American League sche ule committee, composed of B. B. Joh son, Frank J. Farrell, and T. C. Nove will file a formal protest against the pl when the joint committee meets the I ter part of this month. The players a also antagonistic to the 168-game plan, indicated by the following remarks Shortstop Tinker, of the Cubs.

The players will be required in more than 200 games. We take a tra ing trip in the spring, playing thirty more games, jumping from one town another, with little or no rest. Th comes a sudden shift from a Southe climate to the North to begin the char pionship race the middle of April, whi alone is a severe hardship, because of t unseasonable weather. There is no re son why the players should not be allo ed to play a few exhibition games aft the pennant race, in order to enjoy needed recreation and to pick up a little extra money. The championship season ought to begin on May 1 and wind up on or about September 30."

WOULD TRADE BROWN.

Charles Murphy, of Cubs, After Cincinnati Players.

Cincinnati, Jan. 7 .- President Charles W. Murphy, of the Chicago National League club, was here to-day and called on Manager Clarke Griffith, of the Reds. To-night, Murphy and Charles P. Taft, his backer in baseball enterprises, held a

The story was printed here this after noon that Murphy offered to include Pitcher Mordecai Brown in a trade for several Reds, one of whom is Spade. Manager Griffith said to-night concerning this alleged proposition;

"I have had a brief talk with Murphy I do not consider the Brown proposition seriously. If Murphy wants to trade Brown, he, Brown, must have the yellow fever, or some other disability. None of my players is for trade anyhow. President Herrmann, of the Reds, said

"The Brown story is all a joke."

thirty wrestlers, coming from all parts of Europe and the United States, some of them top-notchers and one world's champion, are now in the City of Mexico, this being the largest aggregation of athletes that ever crossed the Rio Grande. Among them is Fred Beal, the welterweight champion of the world. A troupe of twenty-one German, French, Italian, American, and Swedish wrestlers came in last night for an indefinite stay, There are also many Japanese jiu-jitsu wrestlers here. There seems to be an epidemic of the wrestling fever in the ancient capital of the Aztecs.

Walter Johnson, the Nationals' big wirler, has disregarded the advice of all is friends, and is pitching one game a week for a team in Southern California. This paper recently published an account of a no-hit, no-run game, with Walter Johnson may think he is big and strong enough to stand this off-season work, but in the opinion of many older and wiser heads he is not only hurting himself, but doing the club an injustice, and his work next summer will show the effects, the Nationals, of course, beng the sufferers.

Johnson is not yet twenty-one years d-not fully developed. He was called upon last season to pitch a great many games for the Nationals, starting in last farch and continuing regularly until Oc-Instead of going to his home in essers on a barn storming tour, and akes his turn in the box until the team lisbands, about Christmas time.

Should Johnson stop right now and enoy three months of complete rest, he would be in fair shape to start in the long grind next March. But no; he signs up to pitch one game a week for the santa Ana club, and will keep this up until it is time for him to join the Naonals in Norfolk.

It stands to reason that, young and strong as he is, his arm cannot stand under this long strain.

Jimmy McAleer is at present on the oast, visiting relatives in Los Angeles. Before coming East he will probably see Johnson and have a talk with him: It is known that McAleer is opposed to winter baseball, and if he finds a way to choke off this rising ambition of for of unusual integrity and ability.
